DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Blachly.

Blachly discloses in figures 1-4 an apparatus for placement within the mouth comprising an outer shield, 22 having an inlet port 44, an elongated shaft 10 having a first end defining a generally concave tongue portion 16, and a second end disposed within the outer shield inlet port (fig. 1), the shaft having an inner plate 12, disposed by the outer shield and the concave tongue receiving surface (fig. 1), the shaft includes an outlet port 18 and the inlet port is defined by a cylindrical wall (the wall 42).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Blachly in view of Kuo.

Blachly discloses in figures 1-4 an apparatus for placement within the mouth, substantially as claimed. However, Blachly doesn't disclose the apparatus fabricated of a polymer, or the polymer being able to change colors or being flavored. Kuo teaches in figures 1-17 an apparatus for placement within the mouth comprising a polymer that can change colors (col. 7, lines 39-42) and it is flavored (col. 4, lines 60-63). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time that the invention was made that the apparatus disclosed by Blachly could be fabricated of a polymer having a color and a flavor as taught by Kuo. The color could be used to detect a change in temperature. The flavor would give the apparatus a taste that is pleasing to the user while the device is inside of the mouth.
